

Introduction

As a seasoned software developer with a robust foundation in web technologies, I bring a wealth of experience to the table. My journey includes not only successful completion of coding bootcamps but also academic pursuits at a prestigious European university, coupled with active participation in the Erasmus+ mobility program at Daugavpils University in Latvia. A nimble learner by nature, I thrive on collaborating closely with clients to craft tailored solutions that meet their specific needs. My commitment to excellence and passion for innovative problem-solving make me a valuable asset in the dynamic field of software development.
